

Kuaishou Data Security Management Regulations

These regulations aim to protect the information assets of Kuaishou and its related companies and regional branches, strengthen its data security management, establish data security rules and relevant requirements, and ensure safe access when obtaining the data in the areas of operations, technology and other data by all the employees of the Company. These regulations can safeguard the interest of the Company and lower the risk of its information leakage or destruction.

These regulations are applicable to all employees of Kuaishou and its related companies and regional branches (branches, offices and representative offices), as well as third-party personnel who provide services (including but not limited to suppliers, dispatched labor and interns). They are also applicable to any data related operations of the Company, including the safety control of collection, transfer, usage, storage, disclosure, publish, backup and restore, and destruction of data during their lifecycle.
