

Navigating the spring semester with Kuaishou's "First Lesson of the New Semester" livestreaming event: A comprehensive education guide

2024.04.24

Yanzhao Metropolis Daily : Navigating the spring semester with Kuaishou's "First Lesson of the New Semester" livestreaming event: A comprehensive education guide

During the 2024 spring semester, Kuaishou launched the "First Lesson of the New Semester" livestreaming event series, inviting renowned teachers and education experts from prestigious universities to share their insights on trending topics related to the new school year. This event provided students and parents with a valuable "first lesson" for the semester. During the livestreaming "lesson", these leading educators from different fields offered detailed explanations of effective learning methods for various subjects and apply scientific theories to address parenting approaches in family education scenarios.